IRON WORKERS ARE
HURT AT EDGELYMasonry Section Hits Carl
Nugent on Head, Causing
Fractured Skull

TO HOSPITAL HERE

Howard Staub, Replacing
Him on Job, Falls
Few Minutes Later

EDGELY, Apr. 7—Injuries suffered by two workers within a short period of time at the Hammonton Iron Works, being constructed here, sent the two of them to Harriman Hospital, Bristol.

The injured: Carl Nugent, 21, of Linwood avenue, Trenton, N. J., fractured skull. Howard Staub, 33, Olden avenue, Trenton, fractured right wrist.

The two structural steel workers were hurt within a period of about 20 minutes.

Nugent was working on the ground when a crane lifting a steel beam hit a cornice, knocking loose an eight brick section of masonry. Despite the efforts of Thomas Fabrizio, 29, of Trenton, to save him, the dislodged bricks struck Nugent on the head. His co-workers took him to the hospital, where an X-ray revealed he had suffered a fractured skull.

Staub was sent to replace Nugent. Soog after, while climbing up a steel column, he slipped and fell 30 feet. He was rushed to the same hospital in an automobile.

Dr. George T. Fox treated Staub for a fractured right wrist. He was held for further observation.

Both men are employed by the Keystone Structural Steel Co., of N. Olden Avenue Extension, Trenton, N. J.

Approve Plans For New Upper Makefield School

Plans for a new elementary school in Upper Makefield township have been approved by the State Department of Education.

The site of the new school has not been definitely settled as the question is still open as to whether to place it at Washington Crossing, in the more populous southeastern section of the township, or in a more central location.

Upper Makefield has a transportation problem because of the fact that the school buses must circle the children of the Buckmanville-Largan section.

St. Andrew's Parish plans a new parochial school on five acres of land from the Cornell-Lownes tract, on the west side of Buck road.

CHANGE OF EMPHASIS

Cotton plants that produce only seeds for oil are being developed.
Through experimentation experts are putting more meat on turkeys,
taking some of the fat out of hams,
producing eggs with tougher shells, popcorn with a louder pop
and watermelons with more pulp.
They are getting more wool on sheep, straightening out the crooked necks of squash and turning up triumphantly with chickens having bigger drumsticks and more white meat.

That is all for the material comfort of men. As a nation of gogetters Americans cater continually to the things man wants, constantly tempting him to part more readily with the consumer dollar.

It would be an innovation if the men who are achieving so mightily could be persuaded to direct some attention toward the improvement of the inward man—
his soul, his psyche, his character,
or by whatever term it is described.

Why doesn't the project of making a man with more heart and less stomach engage the interest of the scientists? Wouldn't it be possible to deflate his ego somewhat and stimulate consideration for others? Experimentation might reveal how to incite into greater activity nerves leading to the artistic part of the brain
rather than the acquisitive part.

These are crude suggestions for changing emphasis a tiny bit from the material to the spiritual.
In view of the woes of the world,
such changes are more or less necessary. And necessity is the mother of invention.

SEEKING THE ANSWERS

If the American people are to furnish the federal government all the information desired for the decennial census now under way, it would be no less than fair if the government were to return the favor and give the people truthful answers to many questions which prove perplexing.

Here are some questions which need answering: How much money is the government spending this year? How many civilians are on the government payroll?
How many days does the average citizen work this year to pay his federal taxes?

The above questions cannot be answered for the reason no one knows the answers. In the maze of bureaus and commissions which comprises Washington there is not a single agency possessed of the real facts concerning the cost of government. There are estimates for budget purposes, but these are always found to be too low, and deficit appropriations are added to original figures to further confuse the situation.

The Hoover Commission made an effort to end the confusion in Washington, but little has come of it because Congress has failed to ratify the report in full, and never will. When Congress adjourns next July the public will not know within several billion dollars how much the session has cost. Only one thing will be certain: It put the country further in the hole.

Sailor is Sentenced to Pay Fine and Serve Time in Jail

apartment or that he made any improper advances to the sailor.

Trooper J. J. Shovelin, of the State Police (Doylestown), the prosecutor, said that he saw Kline's two black eyes and other injuries and that he got a statement from Cogan after the defendant had been arrested in Doylestown the following day after the robbery. The defendant was AWOL when the police got him in Doylestown. Trooper Shovelin informed Judge Keller that Cogan had been arrested in Doylestown in 1947 for disorderly conduct by the Doylestown police.

The defendant Cogan told Judge Keller that Kline bought him several drinks first in Hatboro and later at Neshaunim and that he did make improper advances to him. Cogan said that he had asked Kline at Hatboro to loan him some money, and that he said he would if he went along to Neshaunim.

The defendant admitted that he hit Kline with his fists, because he was mad about his advances. When recalled to the stand, Kline denied Cogan's accusations flatly.

"I cannot understand this case in its entirety," Judge Keller commented before pronouncing sentence. "The defendant in a somewhat veiled manner tries to justify the assault with the story of alleged improper conduct on the part of Kline."

"Even if that were true there was no justification for an assault and taking the money. You saw your chance to get the money and you took it."

"Your record in the United States Navy—with three times AWOL in eight years—indicates that you are an unstable sailor. The Navy might simply discharge you if the court turns you over to them, so instead we will take care of this case here."

Judge Keller made it plain to the defendant that 10 months to three years was a "very mild sentence" under the circumstances.

L. Paul Sobin, 23, of 631 South 10th st., Newark, N. J., received the pity of the court yesterday as he pleaded guilty before Judge Keller, but received a sentence of six months to two years in the County Prison.

Sobin's father died in a tuberculosis hospital when Sobin was a youngster and it was necessary for the mother to put him in a foster home, from which he later ran away.

Sobin pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile belonging to Mrs. Charles Davis, of Morrisville, back in 1944, from a Morrisville lot. He has been in and out of reformatories and prisons for more than six years, having been arrested seven times, and now awaiting disposition of a detainer from Bordentown, N. J.

Former Police Chief Harry Christ, of Morrisville, testified that Sobin stole the car on June 6, 1944, and abandoned the car at Irvington, N. J., after running out of gasoline. He was arrested a short time later but since that time has been serving time in Jamesburg State Home for Boys (N. J.), Annandale Reformatory (N. J.), State Reformatory at Rahway, N. J., and the New Jersey

State Prison in Trenton, where he was recently released and brought to Bucks County.

"The court feels sorry for you; you never had a chance as a young boy, or you might have made good," Judge Keller commented. "You had no one to look after you, and this is what happened. For that reason the sentence here will be lenient."

of the corps officers of the Salvation Army, pointing out that many services are performed in the course of a year of which the general public has no record, but which are of tremendous uplift to those who receive the aid of the organization.

"We feel that if we can take boys and girls and teach them how to play together, when they are men and women they will know how to work together and be a real asset to their country," Captain Crispell said.

Guests were present from Cornwells Heights, Philadelphia, and Holland, Pa., with President William Begley in charge of the meeting.

lower prices, which would be made possible by lowering the tax.

"The legitimate theatre should not be placed in the luxury class with jewelry, furs, bowling alleys, pool halls, etc.," Mr. Bamberger declares. "The theatre is a cultural force in the life of the nation and should be encouraged. We believe reduction of the admission tax will broaden audience participation."

building, submitted her letter of resignation to take effect July 1st.

James D. Robinson reported that Croydon Fire Co. had checked and refilled all fire extinguishers in the township school buildings.

There was quite a discussion on establishment of the position of a health and physical education instructor in the elementary grades. The board went on record as establishing this post, and it will be filled by Henry Morgan, now a teacher in the junior high school. It was explained by the president that many school districts are doing this as a great need is felt for this type of training in the elementary grades.

The following new teachers were employed for the 1950-51 school term: Miss Felici Deili Pizzi, 6th grade at Edgely; Miss Rose Marie Wharton, 3rd grade at Maple Shade; Charles W. Plank, 4th grade at Maple Shade; Joan Sawman, 2nd and 3rd grade at Croydon; Miss Lora M. Mariolina, 4th grade at Croydon; Miss Elinor L. Chaiter, 3rd grade at Edgely; Miss Janice L. Dewees, 3rd grade at Maple Shade.

Secretary of the board, Clarence Young, was instructed to write a letter of appreciation to Croydon Fire Co. for service rendered the schools in refilling the fire extinguishers and checking them; also a letter of appreciation to Newport-ville Fire Co. for filling the water reservoir during the water shortage.

A summary of proposed expenditures of the budget follows: General control, $23,486; instructional service, $265,309; auxiliary agencies and coordinate activities, $31,750; operation of plant, $37,650; maintenance of plant, $3,000; fixed charges, $9,600; total current expense, $370,786; debt service, $24,485; capital outlay, $23,712; total proposed expenditures, $418,983.

The following board members were absent: William D. Knight and Edgar A. Spencer.

Henry Decker distributed township school population and area maps and explained them to the members.

members of one family, the other day, when the family's pet dog was struck by an automobile, it is revealed. "The entire family rushed out to administer first aid to the dog, and left the enumerator 'high and dry' inside for about half an hour," it is told. The request is that the knock at the door be answered promptly and the queries attended to at once, as enumerators have countless calls, the leaders remind.

A Russian family in Bristol township was to be listed this week, and with no Russian-speaking member on the enumerating team, it was necessary to secure services of another Russian in this area to serve as interpreter. A number of cases where families speak only Italian have been cared for readily as some Italian-speaking workers are in the enumeration group.

Each enumerator is required to report daily to the crew leader by postal card. Additional contacts are made also, the crew leader making appointments to meet the workers in the field.

Our Father, lead us to be among those who will hold up the hands of our leaders like the men of old, who held up the hands of Moses until the battle was won. Thou knowest dear Lord, how much the leaders of the Army of our Saviour Jesus Christ need our help. May we give it and give it willingly and cheerfully. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Don't miss it... what will probably be one of the finest programs ever to be staged by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association will be presented next Tuesday evening in the Bristol High School auditorium when the Association, in conjunction with the Bristol Branch, Bucks County SPCA, conducts its second, big quarterly meeting of 1950.

Some of the highlights include baitcasting and flycasting exhibitions by Ollie Hobbs and his son, Homer, Ollie, present National baitcasting champion, will handle this department, while Homer, former junior flycasting titleholder, will demonstrate the use of the flyrod.

Clarence Welch, president of the Philadelphia Archery Club, who has performed before television audiences, will perform some really amazing feats with the bow and arrow. He will be assisted by other well-known figures in the field of archery.

Interesting talks by SPCA officials are also scheduled, and some fine movies on conservation and outdoor life will be shown.

The two movies, in technicolor, have been secured by the Bristol Branch, Bucks County SPCA, for the program. The first is entitled "Puppy Life," and the second "Realm of the Wild," with narration by Lowell Thomas and Helen Hayes. J. A. Willard, Philadelphia Women's SPCA, will give a short talk, and J. Paul Lloyd, president of the Bucks County SPCA, will be introduced.

The meeting, which will begin at 7:30, is open to the general public. Don't miss it.

Not very plentiful... although scores of anglers were present on Long Beach Island last Saturday for the 1950 opening of the New Jersey striped bass season, the contrary was true of the presence of the fighting strippers. Anglers with their surf rigs were stretched out all the way from Barnegat Light to the lower inlet, and all fared identically—no fish. It shouldn't be too long, however, before we begin to get reports of catches—the bass are reported moving up the coast from points to the South.

Scores... local sharpshooter Fred Davies turned in the only perfect score of 25 last Sunday when 50 shooters blasted away at 1250 target traps of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association. Runner-up to Davies was W. Doran who missed just one bird out of his 25. In a 3-way tie for third place were E. Ely, W. Roeger and J. S. Fine, all with 23s.

Other scores included: W. MacSherry, 22; A. Boccardo, 22; J. McCue, 22; G. Cobleigh, 21; J. Thompson, 21; L. Robinson, 20; J. Lynn, 20; J. King, 20; J. Brady, 20; I. Book, 20; and C. Blittie, 20.

Prizes were won in a Lewis Class distribution by Davies, Cobleigh, Ely, LaPolia and MacSherry.

Officially here... anglers have many different signs and symbols which they observe in being satisfied that Spring has returned each year. Some are guided by the arrival of certain birds, others by the signs of the moon, and still others by the appearance of certain buds and plants. All swear by their respective signs.

In Bristol, however, one other sure sign is available to the angling fraternity which other sections cannot boast. Each year we watch for his first appearance along the marsh in search of worms. He made his appearance last Friday morning. That same afternoon he was seen fishing at both Maple Beach and Silver Lake. And Joe McInley caught seven nice-sized catfish!

Notes... the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs is going to send two high school boys to the State Conservation School at State College this summer. This action was taken by the organization when delegates met in Doylestown Monday evening. Lots were drawn to see which clubs in the Federation would select the two boys, and the Penns Manor and Mumbauersville clubs were named. Now is a good time to decrease the crow population delegates were told. They're beginning to nest and you can get a little closer to them. State Fish Warden Harry Cole reported very few violations of the new fishing law which prohibits practically all fishing until April 15. He did apprehend one non-sportsman, however, with 13 trout stuffed in his shirt and trouser pockets. They were caught in Cook's Creek in the upper end of Bucks County. It cost that bird just $130.00. Game protectors Earl Carpenter and Ed Flexler released the following game Commission stocking figures for Bucks County: 2216 pheasants (1108 in upper end and 1108 in lower end of County); 1394 rabbits (399 purchased by Commission for both upper and lower parts of County, 526 trapped and released in lower Bucks); applications for a total of 5070 day-old pheasant chicks for raising this year have been received (2670 in Upper Bucks and 2400 in lower Bucks). Delegates were on hand for the meeting from Bristol, Bucks County, Catulossa, Delaware Valley, Edgely, Middletown, Morrisville, Mount Pleasant, New Hope, Newportville Rod & Gun, Newtown, Paledown, Springtown and Tru-Sport.

Shoot... a practice bluecock target shoot will be held over the traps of the Newportville Rod & Gun Club (Haunted Lane, Edgely) this Sunday, beginning at 1 p. m. All shooters welcome.

Customers' Problems Discussed at Langhorne

LANGHORNE, Apr. 7 — Pointing out how consumers can make their power felt — to the manufacturer through the buyer — Mrs. Leah Hammond, coordinator of consumer relations for a Philadelphia department store, presented a helpful discourse before Langhorne Sorosis yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Hammond spoke in the Langhorne library.

The guest has had extensive experience in laboratory work, in connection with wear and tear on fabrics. She dealt primarily with customers' problems, mainly in regard to fabrics for clothing, towels and sheets. Mrs. Hammond stressed that if articles are found to be not what they should, the consumer should make such known to the store from which the articles are purchased. "Thus the department store can know that what it is buying is not right." She added that too many manufacturers think only of the style, and not of the quality or whether a fabric is washable. Some time was given over to questions.

There was an exhibit of paintings by members of the art committee, most of these being copies of magazine covers. Several hand-painted plaques were exhibited by Mrs. Harold Riggs. "Portrait of a Boy" was by Cynthia Coates; and others by Mrs. RIGGS, Mrs. Charles Paxson, Mrs. Cleone Pennepacker, and Mrs. Horace Townsend.

At the April 29th meeting, Irene Case Namur, a doctor of science and an authority on biochemistry, will speak upon "Why you are what you are." She will inform how nutrition affects mental alertness, poise, physical well-being, etc. Dr. Namur received her doctorate at the Royal College, in Brussels, and is a member of the American Association for Advancement of Science. During World War II she served as a major in the American Women's Hospital Reserve Corps, and director of the nutrition department in the Medical Division.

FOUR ROOMS BATH SERVICE ROOM

Space upstairs for future growth

DESIGN NO. 4146

Future upstairs space is provided when you build this basementless home. Now, or later, two additional second floor bedrooms can be finished. The result is a handsome, economical four-bedroom home.

This design recently joined scores of others in our Weyerhaeuser 4-Square Home Building Service. You owe it to yourself to see all these homes before you build—to study the variety of architectural treatments—to examine the practical floor plans. Feel free to come in and use this Service in your planning. Blueprints of all designs are here at our office.
